

DU SOL – Examination Information

Examination System

DU SOL follows the University of Delhi semester/annual examination pattern. Examinations are conducted by the Examination Branch of Delhi University. SOL students appear in the same exams as regular DU students.

Types of Examinations

- Annual Mode (older batches): Year-end exams for each year of the programme.
- Semester Mode (new batches, CBCS): Exams at the end of each semester (2 per year).
- Internal Assessment (IA): 25 marks per paper, based on assignments submitted to Study Centre.
- Theory Exam: 75 marks per paper (written, held at exam centres).

Exam Schedule

- Semester exams are typically held in November–December (odd sem) and April–May (even sem).
- Annual exams are held in April–May.
- Admit cards are issued online via the DU/SOL portal 2–3 weeks before exams.

Always check sol.du.ac.in or du.ac.in for the official date sheet.

Exam Form Submission

1. Log in to sol.du.ac.in with your enrolment number.
2. Fill and submit the online exam form within the notified window.
3. Pay the examination fee online.
4. Download and save the filled exam form as proof.

Late form submission is allowed with a late fee for a limited period.

Exam Centres

Exam centres are allotted by DU. The centre details appear on the admit card. Students must carry their admit card and a valid photo ID to the exam hall.

Internal Assessment (IA)

- Students must submit assignments at their assigned Study Centre.
- IA carries 25 marks per paper.
- Missing IA submission can result in an 'absent' in IA and lower total marks.
- IA marks are uploaded by Study Centres before the result declaration.

Ex-Students / Back Paper

Students who fail or are absent in one or more papers can appear as ex-students in subsequent exams. They must fill the ex-student exam form and pay the applicable fee separately.

Important Rules

- Use of unfair means leads to cancellation of the paper or entire exam.
- Mobile phones are strictly prohibited in exam halls.
- Students must follow the seating plan and exam centre instructions.
